LESSONS OF THE LATE WAR

Experts in Washington Drawing Conclusions for the Navy.

Smokeless Powder and Less Woodwork in Ships Absolutely Necessary—Monitors Useless in Rough Water—More Ships.

While important conclusions have been deduced from the experience of the navy in the existing war which will be of benefit to the construction of future warships, these conclusions tend rather to emphasize facts already known than to establish any new truths, says the New York Herald.

This was developed during conversations I have had with prominent naval experts on duty in Washington. These experts have been impelled as much because of a love of their profession as on account of the nature of their duties to closely follow the war, and being desirous of advancing the navy in every way possible they have written for and received reports showing the performance of ships and ordnance and of the different features of vessels, from which they have drawn their conclusions.

I have talked with Captain A. S.
Crowninshield, chief of the Bureau of Navigation; Captain F. W. Dick-ins principal assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Navigation; Captain Charles O'Neil, Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance; Chief Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn; Engineer in Chief G. W. Melville and Civil Engineer M. T. Endicott, the last named chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. My talks with these experts develop that the war has thus far shown:

First—That the gun is still the dominating factor in war.

Second—That rapid fire guns are especially valuable, but that it is advisable to retain guns of large calibers.

Third—That smokeless powder is absolutely essential for modern warfare.

Fourth—That there should be a great reduction in the amount of woodwork on board ship and that that left on board should be fireproof, some going so far as to say that woodwork should be eliminated entirely, its place to be taken by some other substance.

Fifth—That armor should be distributed over the entire ship rather than be limited to the section where its vitals are located.

Sixth—That monitors are useless for cruising purposes or for fighting in rough waters.

Seventh—That the United States should have a larger navy, with speedier battle ships and fast armored cruisers, and with coaling stations in different sections of the globe, where men-of-war can procure supplies and make repairs if necessary.

For the purpose of acquiring all information possible regarding the performance of ordnance outfits on American men-of-war Captain Charles O'Neil, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, has invited comments and criticisms from commanding officers of vessels in commission respecting the performance of the guns and munitions and ammunition with which their ships are supplied.

The pain of a burn or scald is almost instantly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm.
It also heals the injured parts more quickly than any other treatment, and without the burn is very severe does not leave a scar. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents.

Nicely furnished rooms at the Popular House, 154 Fort street, from $1.00 per week up.

The Last Car.

The last cars of the King street line going to Waikiki and Palama pass the Anchor Saloon. The cleverest mixologists in the city are there always to put you up anything you may desire. Drop in and take a drop before you take the car. The celebrated Seattle beer is to be had here on draught.
A full line of liquors including John Dewar's Scotch, O. P. S., etc., always on hand. The most exact and varied demands can be satisfied. The Anchor Saloon is here to please its patrons.

Good Enough to Take.

The finest quality of loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to that of maple syrup, making it very pleasant to take. As a medicine for the cure of coughs, colds, lagrippe, croup and whooping cough it is unequalled by any other. It always cures, and cures quickly.
For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents.

Seattle Beer.

This ever popular Ranier beer is becoming a household word and "will you have a glass of Seattle" is more often heard than anything else. The Criterion Saloon have the beer on tap or in bottles.

isseurs in all parts of the world; it ultra fashionable.
